AGNIESZKA HALGAS

Agnieszka spent 5 years working in finance & consulting before pursuing her dream of creating her own company. On her journey to live in a healthier and more balanced way, she educated herself on ingredients in cosmetics and found her true passion for clean beauty. J'adore bio, a boutique with truly natural beauty & wellness products, was founded in 2017. With all her love, knowledge and experience, Agnieszka hopes to inspire others to start their wellness journey and swap their beauty products for natural without any compromise on performance!

ALEXANDRA KAHN

Located in western Luxembourg, Genaveh has been producing top-quality handmade chocolates since 2005, when Geula Naveh founded the company, using her own chocolate recipes inspired by Franco-Belgian trends. Mrs. Naveh's dreams had started to become reality when she fell ill; her husband finally decided that Genaveh should be sold. It's thanks to Alexandra Kahn, the young French entrepreneur who took over the company in 2017, that the success story continues. Hand in hand with her young team of chocolate makers, Alexandra has succeeded in preserving the house's essence while endowing it with a modern image that has consolidated beyond Luxembourg's borders.

AMELIE & TULSI

In 2016 Amelie and Tulsi acquired yogaloft which was in a small apartment building in Merl. And within one year they had tripled business and opened their second studio in Kirchberg. Today yogaloft holds 100 yoga classes per week in 5 locations across Luxembourg city and Strassen. Amelie and Tulsi hope that as many people as possible can make time for yoga in their life and they continue to grow the business by now also offering teacher trainings and retreats.

CAROLINE POINCELOT

Caroline Poincelot is the founder of pardonmycloset, a second-hand boutique. This young French woman arrived in Luxembourg in 2015 to work in finance, but in 2019 she decided to create the place she'd been missing in Luxembourg: a spacious, modern second-hand boutique that makes you want to consume differently, and where you'll find a cutting-edge selection of clothes and accessories at affordable prices that are accessible to all, offering brands that are both inexpensive and luxurious.

GOSIA KRAMER

Gosia Kramer is founder of coworking spaces The Office, vegan food restaurants Lokaal, The Office Plants service provider and a boutique sport concept The Gym. She worked for over 10 years in the banking industry to change her career path, following her passion for human friendly workplaces. She was one of the very first ones to create coworking concept in Luxembourg in 2016. Ever since she has grown The Office from a single location to 6000sq meters in the city. Over the past years her mission for promoting wellbeing and sustainability in the workplaces has developed further. In her design she focuses on elements such as re-usability of materials, reduction of office waste, inspiring fit out, circularity of furniture and above all: multiplication of plants as a true catalyst for employees' wellbeing.

STEPHANIE JABARDO

Content Creator, Social media manager, graduated in Informatic Engineering with a passion for the visual content. Stephanie moved 7 years ago to Luxembourg, from Venezuela. In the urge of discovering Luxembourg, making new connections, friends and follow her hobbies, she had the big chance to be a blogger for Rosoportlife.com, covering events and recounting digital stories. This opened opportunities to collaborate with local brands but also big brands like Nespresso and Ikea. Suddenly the hobby became the official and fruitful job, not only as entrepreneur but also as employee. Today, Stephanie is part of the Silicon Luxembourg team, sharing stories about innovation, technology, startups and businesses.
